

Town Meeting Goer — Gerald McNabb of Boy Scout Troop 28 takes notes at the town meeting proceedings.

Guy Southard Joins Cohasset Hardware

The Cohasset Hardware Co. announced this week that Guy Southard, well known in the paint business on the South Shore, has joined the staff of the store in Cohasset Village.

Guy brings 30 years of experience in all aspects of custom color paint plus a complete knowledge of the hardware business to the store. He is well known for his knowledge in selecting and mixing custom colors.

Guy is looking forward with pleasure to being of service to his former customers and many paint contractors, and to making new friends at Cohasset Hardware.

Residents are invited to Cohasset Hardware to chat

Guy Southard

with Guy, custom paint man on the South Shore.

Barrow Running For Water Commissioner

Richard Barrow of King Street announced his candidacy for the three year position on the Water Commission last week.

He is a lifelong resident of Cohasset, served as police officer for 29 years, is a World War II Navy veteran.

Educated in Cohasset schools and the State Police Academy he attended Northeastern University where he took law enforcement courses.

He was a constable for two years and an elected member of the Recreation Commission for five years, four as chairman. He is a member of the Harbor Study Committee, Government Island Study Committee, and a member of Cohasset Swim Center.

Married, he and his wife Patricia, have four children.

Familiar with town needs, he stresses a common sense approach to issues and his availability. He wants quality water at reasonable prices, expansion of water mains for needy areas of town for home use as well as fire protection.

He doesn't favor purchase of the Hingham Water Co. at this time and recommends consideration of separation of sewer and water departments.
